

The background of the image is a museum gallery. In the foreground, a classical marble statue of a man in a contemplative pose (hand to chin) is visible. Behind it, several framed artworks are displayed on a light-colored wall. To the right, another statue is partially visible, and the dark, out-of-focus silhouettes of people are seen in the foreground, suggesting a public viewing space.

057.5

INTERLACE | Autumn/Winter 2026

Clothing as interface—between movement and stillness, body and environment.

Dislocated paneling and hybrid fabrics create structured fluidity.

Natural fibers meet performance tech to build breathable, layered textures.

Cuts act as syntax, adapting across climates and urban transitions.

A spatial system that breathes, responds, and redefines how we inhabit space.

