Matthew Hegarty, Designer and Founder, on the Essence of Hegarty:

"From the very beginning, I knew that fashion was not just a passion, but a calling. Outerwear, in particular, speaks to me – there's something transformative about a beautifully crafted coat or jacket that completes an outfit. Hegarty was born from the desire to create a brand that champions sustainability, with each piece made in London, using the finest materials the UK has to offer."

"At Hegarty, we believe in designing for everyone. Our pieces are crafted with inclusivity in mind, transcending traditional fashion boundaries to offer something for every individual."

"Local craftsmanship is at the heart of Hegarty. By working closely with our London manufacturers, I ensure that each garment is created with precision and care. We are proud to source our materials exclusively from the UK, using only sustainable fabrics and non-toxic dyes, certified by our trusted partners."

"Honesty, passion, creativity, and an unwavering dedication to quality – these are the core values that define Hegarty."

As Hegarty continues to grow and evolve, our commitment to timeless elegance and luxury remains steadfast. Our collections grow, yet our dedication to effortless sophistication, unparalleled craftsmanship, and the highest standards of quality never wavers.
