

COLIN/HORGAN

SPRING/SUMMER 2023

'IMPOSED FACTION'

PRESS RELEASE:

Imposed Faction is an interruption of new processes that Colin Horgan explores through Spring/Summer 2023. It began, with iterations of shapes that were self combusting and destructive. By glitching and disrupting forms it is navigated by the relationship between garment and wearer which presents as a distorted 'stand by' silhouette.

Melting three dimensional saddle pockets are available with a Neo-luxury approach through accessible wardrobe staples. Beams of lilac are head on against explosive pink shades which are alarmed by azure and deep denims, all accompanied by the notable twin needle stitching in white. As disruptive harnesses and hunting jackets take flight, clarity is met face to face with a galactic black.

Imposed Faction does does illustrate a common thread in the Colin Horgan brand - craftsmanship. By exhausting a form, a new energy reemerges. By Faction, by default.

BIO:

Colin Horgan graduated from the Royal College of Art in 2017 MA Fashion Womenswear where he closed the show with his celebrated debut collection "Brisk".

Now in his 5th season presenting on schedule at London Fashion Week, Colin blends his roots in music and subculture into a refined and masterful NEO-luxury collection.

Colin's clinical execution of fitted tailoring and outerwear delves into a hyper sensational silhouette, extorting and manipulating harness strapping with sculptural effect. 3D Pannier pockets, exaggerated A-line flare panels create a signature collection topography.

Colin Horgan is worn by artists including Dua Lipa, Lady Gaga, Kehlani, Tolu Makay, Chaelin CL, Brooke Candy, Tierra Whack, Ashnikko and Mabel

Irish born, Kerry native, Horgan takes inspiration from strength in women in his family and juxtaposes them with surreal women that inspired him through his early youth.

Thank you to everyone from my Family, Friends and partner Mark. Thank you to the studio team, machinists and production X

Paris Showroom: Other / Wise 28th September - 4th October. Appointments.
