

BLEUE BURNHAM

BRAND

OUR WORLD

Established in 2018 by Bleue Wickham-Burnham, Bleue Burnham is a jewellery brand based in London.

The purpose and philosophy of our practice is to create jewellery of timeless beauty and extraordinary quality, which is developed and actualised from detailed research of human culture and its connection to the natural world; Focusing our energy to heighten and amplify the beauty of this connection. As a result, our jewellery embodies meaning and an aesthetic which unites a love and enjoyment of nature with playful design and classic elegance.

Since the Launch of Bleue Burnham we have collaborated with Gucci Vault and Palm Angels and have seen press coverage from Vogue, GQ, Hypebest, I-D, Another, Esquire, The Face, The Financial Times, The Observer, WSJ and more.

This year, Bleue Burnham won the British Fashion Council/GQ award, becoming the first ever jewellery designer to do so.

Bleue Burnham is also stocked in some of the world's leading luxury retailers.

ETHOS

CRAFTED WITH MEANING

All Bleue Burnham jewellery is designed and developed in our London studio. Our approach to design is deeply rooted in our philosophy of pursuing detailed research and timeless creation to amplify and heighten the beauty of a connection to the natural world. As a result, our jewellery embodies meaning and an aesthetic that unites an enjoyment of nature with playful design and classic elegance.

Inherent to this practice is a pursuit for new ideas and creative expansion. For this reason, we dedicate many hours to experimentation and the development of new techniques and methods of making. Our jewellery is then handcrafted by our team of in-house and partner jewellery artisans between three London ateliers (excluding chain which is made in Italy) before being sent to our customers.
